

Acknowledgments

The California Board of Forestry wishes to acknowledge the efforts of individuals who played significant roles in the development of the California Fire Plan. Director Richard Wilson fully endorsed the Fire Plan and set the course by giving it the Department's highest priority. There are many individuals who played a part in developing this plan. Here are just a few of those who were the key players.

Jack Wiest stepped up to the task by providing leadership for the team. Wayne Mitchell assisted Jack with behind-the-scenes administrative details. Jack and Wayne were the consistent leaders needed for the duration. Loyd Forrest, Cathy Bleier, Greg Greenwood, Robin Marose, and the Fire and Resource Assessment Program staff contributed the primary planning framework, a key component that successfully tied together the various concepts. Don Rascon, one of the state's top fiscal experts, applied his expertise by shaping the plan into an acceptable document for presentation to the Department of Finance, Resources Agency and legislative fiscal committees. Hank Weston, Jerry Geissler and Wayne Mitchell led the Level-of-Service team that developed the LOS concept. Hank and Jerry were effective at communicating and ensuring the plan had practical application on the ground. The development of the prefire management focus was led by Doug Wickizer and Bob Irby. The field level planning concept involving stakeholders in the decision making process was organized by Bob and Doug.

Thank yous are in order for the assistance provided by Jon Kennedy, Gary Biehl, and Karen Barnette of the USDA Forest Service.

The early stages of the Fire Plan were directed by the Fire Plan Steering Committee. They included:

Jim Branham, Chief Deputy Director
Dean Cromwell, Executive Officer, Board of Forestry
Ken Delfino, Deputy Director for Resource Management
Jim Dykes, Deputy Director for Fire Protection
